

OYTUN TEZ

Co-Founder & CTO | MotaWord

Oytun is the co-founder and CTO of MotaWord - the World's Fastest Human Translation Platform (www.motaword.com); the disruptive model in a $37 billion/yr sleepy industry with antiquated processes, mom-and-pop-shop translation agencies, high prices and low quality.

MotaWord enables its clients to upload any document to its website instantly and to receive a top quality translation of the document in no time in one's email. Its 15,000+ vetted, trained and qualified translators to collaborate on the cloud simultaneously and translate documents in 90+ languages. MotaWord delivers linguistically consistent, accurate translations demanded by businesses, 20x faster than its competition, while delivering ~60% cost-savings over traditional translation agencies and a far superior client experience.

Oytun majored in Translation Studies, with a thesis on machine translation. He worked on many internationalization and localization projects for the largest global language translation and content management company as well as the translation projects of direct clients.

Coming from a software background, he began engineering in translation industry to improve regular workflows and eventually co-founded MotaWord, a pioneer in collaborative translation. His most recent toys are Apache Flink, inline skating and kites.
